

Department of Art History & Archaeology

Fall Lecture Series 2010

September 28th

Marianne Stern

A Glassblower's Look at Martial XIV 94

McDonnell 361 - 4:15 PM

co-sponsored by the Department of Art History & Archaeology and the Classics Department

October 7th

Lynise Williams - Assistant Professor, University of North Carolina

A Different Shade of Black: Panama Al Brown and Paris
Between the World Wars

Kemper 103 - 4:00 PM

October 7th

Colin Mackenzie -

Senior Curator of Early Chinese Art, The Nelson-Atkins Museum of Art

The 13th Annual Nelson Wu Memorial Lecture

From Six Rods to Hemp Generals:
The Inescapable Attraction of Games in Chinese Culture, ca. 600 B.C.E. - ca. 1920

Steinberg Auditorium - 6:00 PM

October 18th

Andrew Hemingway -

Professor Emeritus in History of Art, University College London

Joe Jones: Regionalism Against Myth

E. Desmond Lee Auditorium,

Missouri History Museum - 7:00 PM

co-sponsored by the Department of Art History & Archaeology and the Saint Louis Art Museum

November 8th

Monica Amor - Assistant Professor,
Department of Art History, Theory and Criticism,
Maryland Institute College of Art

Affect and the Participatory Dimension of Brazilian
Neoconcretism: 1959-1964

Steinberg Auditorium - 6:30 PM

co-sponsored by the Department of Art History &
Archaeology and the Kemper Art Museum

November 12th

Prof. Dror Wahrman - Ruth K. Hall's Professor in the Department of History and the Director of the Center for Eighteenth-Century Studies, University of Indiana

The Collier Code:
A Tale of Art and Illusion at the Threshold of the Modern Information Age

Duncker Hall, Hurst Lounge - 4:00 PM

co-sponsored by the Eighteenth-Century Interdisciplinary Salon, the Departments of Romance Languages and Literatures, History, and Art History & Archaeology

December 3rd

Robert S. Nelson - Robert Lehman Professor, Department of the History of Art, Yale University

The History of Legends and the Legends of History:
The 'Pilastris Acritani' and the Spoils of Acre at the Church of San Marco in Venice

Kemper 103 - 3:00 PM